Young Leaders Academy

Workforce Boulder County partnered with Community Action Programs (CAP) to co-develop programming focused on Black, Indigenous, People of Color (BIPOC) youth that helps pave the way to different job markets and educational opportunities. The program was designed to cultivate future leaders and entrepreneurs from underrepresented backgrounds, creating a pipeline of diverse talent that will shift the culture within a variety of sectors across Boulder County.

Young Leaders Academy (YLA) incorporated a cohort-based programming model, which included a six-week-long Leadership Empowerment Series of workshops on leadership, financial wellness, and career development. Participants had three paid “pathways” or tracks available to them: work-based learning, occupational skills training, and high school equivalency attainment. YLA goals were to connect BIPOC youth to education, training, mentoring, and paid employment opportunities, while helping them understand how to advocate for themselves and create a path to socioeconomic mobility.

On July 23, 2022, Young Leaders Academy program was awarded a National Association of Counties Award (NACO) in the “Best in the Children and Youth” Category.
