Press Release – Assault Charges Filed

On January 26, 2023, Longmont Police Department responded to 1900 Collyer Street in Longmont in regards to an assault.

The victim had walked in a park and, in the middle of the park, urinated near a bench. The bench is near a gazebo, and the defendant, Forrest Camma, and his daughter were also near the gazebo. The camera footage showed the victim zip his pants back up and walk down the path. The defendant repeatedly punched the victim in the face and head; the victim fell unconscious during the assault. The victim sustained serious bodily injury.

The defendant claimed to police officers that he had observed the victim masturbating while looking at the defendant's young daughter. However, surveillance cameras clearly show the victim urinating in the park, while looking at the ground and not looking in the direction of the defendant's daughter.

Forrest Camma is now charged with Second Degree Assault causing serious bodily injury (F4). Bond was set on January 27th in the amount of $10,000 secured with a $1,000 cash option, no contact with the victim, no leaving the state, and pre-trial supervision. The defendant posted the bond on January 27th, 2023 as well. The case is set for a Preliminary Hearing on March 6, 2023 at 1:30 pm.

As in every criminal case, these charges are merely an accusation and the defendant is presumed innocent unless or until proven guilty.
