Press Release

The District Attorney's Office completed the independent audit of 46 open cases assigned to Kwame Williams at the time he left the Detective Division of the Boulder Police Department. The 46 cases in question spanned 2019 through 2022. The independent audit included a review of all police reports associated with each one of the cases, as well as a review of any information in the District Attorney and Court records for each of the cases. Our office audited the 46 cases that he failed to work to completion. The Boulder Police Department assigned other personnel to finish working on those 46 cases. The audit reflects the outcomes following that additional work.

The District Attorney's Office is responsible for prosecuting criminal offenses committed within Boulder County. As such, the audit focused on the criminal investigations in question and did not include any administrative or internal issues addressed by the Boulder Police Department. The District Attorney's Office conducted a thorough review of every case in question. The results of the audit were largely consistent with what the Boulder Police Department has already released to the public.

Of the 46 investigations, 43 of those investigations were advanced to completion. The independent audit revealed that three (3) misdemeanor cases with sufficient evidence were unable to be prosecuted due to the statute of limitations having expired.

The letter to the Boulder Police Department can be found on the website of the District Attorney's Office:
